

Women's History Month:
Historic Women on Long Island

Thursday, March 8, 2018

8 to 10 a.m.

The Mansion at Oyster Bay
One Southwoods Road, Woodbury

---

Sponsored by: Karen M. Dowd, Esq.

---

Nationally notable women and local leaders have been part of Long Island's history, though nearly invisible in most accounts. Authors and artists, scientists and suffragists, entrepreneurs and civic activists, pioneering pilots, and innumerable other women have all left their mark on Long Island's past. Even "ordinary" women have played important roles throughout our history.

Join us March 8, which is International Woman's Day, to learn about women in Long Island's past in this Women's History Month presentation.

Our speaker is Natalie Naylor, the author of Women in Long Island's Past: A History of Eminent Ladies and Everyday Lives. She is retired from Hofstra University, where she taught American social history, and is currently president of the Nassau County Historical Society.
